AMMONDS

From the Top - With the Hereford FC Chairman

Good afternoon everyone and welcome once again to the MandM Edgar Street Stadium.

Today we entertain Curzon Ashton and we know from experience this will be a very tough game. We have had some great matches against Curzon over the years and they normally try to play football the right way (in my view).

They come here in good form, off the back of a fine win over Kings Lynn in midweek, and therefore we'll need to be close to our best today to get a positive result.

It's fair to say our points haul from the last 3 games has been disappointing, but I do write those words feeling a little hard done by. While there's no doubt our performance against Telford fell short of what we would hope for, it's completely accurate to state we were desperately unlucky to travel home from both South Shields and Fylde pointless.

In both matches we more than matched in-form, full-time teams and, in my view, we did not deserve to lose either of them. In fact, at Fylde on Saturday the home team could have had no complaints had we won the game, but unfortunately football can be extremely cruel and we eventually found ourselves on the end of a hammer blow deep in injury time.

We must now try to transfer the positive performances away from home to the pitch here at Edgar Street and I've no doubt that our manager, his staff and the players will be doing all they can to do just that.

While we are all disappointed with our current league position, I remain quietly confident that we have enough quality in our squad to compete at the top end of the table, particularly if we are able to strengthen further to give more options in attacking areas.

Finally, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you all for the fantastic support you continue to give our team. While we are not where we would like to be in the league right now, and I understand the frustration fans feel at times, we really do appreciate your continued loyalty, particularly on days when things aren't going so well.

The support at both South Shields and Fylde was outstanding and at home our crowds continue to hold up well. This is vitally important for the club financially, but also in terms of the backing we give the players to help them make our stadium a very difficult place to visit.

Please do all you can to stay behind our team. At times we all know that football is incredibly annoying, but if we all stick together, hopefully we'll get to where we want to be.

Best wishes,

Stig

From the Dugout - With the Hereford FC manager

Good Afternoon,

I'd like to welcome Curzon Ashton players staff and supporters to Edgar Street for this afternoons National League North fixture.

Curzon Ashton under new management this season are still an established and tough National League North club. The stability they have within there squad has proven to be a successful model for them signing players on longer term contracts and with that comes continuity and togetherness. We know how tough our games with Curzon Ashton have been over the years and this will be no different.

I thought our performance at AFC Fylde was a positive one and I was disappointed we didn't come away with all 3 points so was extremely gutted to not even get 1 which shows the type of performance we put on.

I'd like to also thank the supporters who travelled up and supported us last week and as always I never walk off the pitch win lose or draw without applauding our supporters. I want to reiterate ALL our supporters are important to me whether that be the loudest ones publicly or the loyal ones that might not like to voice their opinion as much as others. That's ok! You are still important to me and your presence is still appreciated.

Finally, a huge well done to the young players who were accompanied by the 4 senior lads on Wednesday in progressing to the next round of the HFA cup. I thought the young lads acquitted themselves as best as they could and the senior lads attitude and application was as expected. Thank you to the supporters who came to show your support as well.

Hereford FC Remembrance Matchday

This Saturday, Hereford FC will pay tribute to all those who have fallen in conflict as we mark our annual Remembrance matchday at Edgar Street.

We are honoured to welcome representatives from the Royal British Legion, who will join us as we remember and reflect on the sacrifices made by members of the Armed Forces and their families.

Poppy sellers will be positioned around the ground, and a minute's silence will be held ahead of kick-off as we come together to honour those who gave their lives in service.

We'd politely ask supporters to take their place inside the ground ahead of the silence. Turnstiles will pause during the moment of remembrance.

2:50pm - Standard Bearers from Royal British Legion will take to the pitch

2:55pm - Players enter the pitch

2:59pm - The Last Post and moment of reflection

3pm - Kick Off

The silence will begin and end on the referees whistle. Please remain silent until the referee blows his whistle.

Tributes Paid To Edgar Street Legend Colin Addison

Everyone at Hereford FC is devastated to learn of the passing of Hereford United Legend, Colin Addison, at the age of 85.

Colin's playing career took him to the top-flight of English football for the likes of Nottingham Forest and Arsenal, before a move to Hereford United came in 1971, where he joined the Bulls as player-manager.

Colin Addison was a major part of the famous FA Cup run of 1972, guiding the side to victories over Cheltenham Town, King's Lynn, Northampton Town, and, famously, Division One Newcastle United. He then led the Bulls into the Football League for the first time in the club's history, an achievement every bit as significant as the win over Newcastle.

A long and impressive career in management led him to the Spanish capital when he took the reins at Atletico Madrid before a return to Hereford in 1990.

After his retirement, Colin stayed a much-loved part of our community here at Edgar Street and supported both Hereford United and Hereford FC passionately, always wanting the best for the team from his adopted home city.

Hereford FC Chairman, Chris Ammonds, said:

"Everyone with an allegiance to Hereford United or Hereford FC will be devastated by this news. The word 'legend' is overused nowadays, but never has it been more apt than it is for Colin's achievements in football, and particularly at Hereford United in the early 1970s.

"The team he managed – and played in – put our city on the football map and without the work he did it is unlikely Hereford United would have been elected into the Football League at that time. In my view, Hereford United's win over Newcastle United remains the greatest FA Cup upset of all time and his key part in that victory - and that cup run as a whole - will never be forgotten.

"Off the field he was a true gentleman and it always felt a real honour to be in his company. You knew he wanted the very best for football in Hereford and I feel privileged to have some spent time with him.

"Over the next few days we will discuss fitting ways we can pay tribute to Colin and it is likely that our home game against Southport will be dedicated to him. While the Curzon fixture will see us pay our respects to the fallen as our annual Remembrance Day game, in the 6th minute of the match – in acknowledgement of the number Colin wore against Newcastle - we would like supporters to come together in a minute's applause in memory of Colin as our first tribute to him and all he contributed to football at Edgar Street.

"On behalf of everyone associated with Hereford FC, I would like to send our condolences to all of Colin's family and many, many friends. The thoughts of us all are with them at this extremely sad time."

Westons Cider Extend Bulls Partnership For Five More Years

Hereford FC is delighted to announce that a deal has been agreed that will see Westons Cider extend their sponsorship of the club for another five years.

Westons have been a key sponsor of the club since 2015, with signage on the Len Weston Stand and the Meadow End, having previously been a long standing supporters of Hereford United for many decades prior to that.

The extended sponsorship deal will see Westons continue to supply cider around Edgar Street, as well as supporting the club with giveaways to volunteers and in the Hereford Suite for hospitality guests on matchdays.

In addition, the new deal has seen Westons invest in a significant makeover of Radford's Bar, with new signage outside and redecoration being undertaken inside which sees Stowford Press branding to the fore.

Speaking about this deal, Hereford FC's Commercial Director, George Webb, commented:

"We are absolutely delighted with this deal and on behalf of everyone at the club I'd like to thank Westons for their generous, ongoing support.

"Westons continue to be a huge Herefordshire success story and our partnership with them has been of great benefit to our club in a huge number of ways. We are looking forward to developing that partnership still further and we are already talking about freshening up the signage that they have in various other parts of the ground.

"As with all our sponsors, the support we receive from Westons is absolutely vital as we continue to look to drive Hereford FC forward on and off the field, which is why extending this deal for the next five years is fantastic news for the club because of the long-term commitment it provides."

Gemma Evans, Brand Manager at Westons, said:

"We're absolutely thrilled to continue our partnership with Hereford FC for another five years. Our connection with the club runs deep - built on shared values, local pride, and a love for great cider and great football.

"Seeing the new Stowford Press branding at Radford's Bar is a real celebration of that bond — the perfect pint poured right here at Edgar Street."

24/25 Finish

NLN - 8th

Curzon Ashton Football Club was founded in 1963 following the merger of Curzon Road and Ashton Amateurs. The newly formed club joined the Manchester Amateur League and made an instant impact, winning the title twice and finishing runners-up in each of their first three seasons. Promotion to the Manchester League soon followed, where early consolidation gave way to success in the 1970s, including multiple runners-up finishes and a league and cup double in 1977–78.

In 1978–79, Curzon became founder members of the Cheshire League Division Two and won promotion at the first attempt, narrowly missing the title by two points. Their first season in Division One produced one of the club's finest moments – an historic run to the semi-finals of the FA Vase. They became the first North West club to reach that stage, only to lose 2–0 in both legs to Stamford, with a record 1,800 fans watching the home tie.

When the Cheshire League merged with the Lancashire Combination to form the North West Counties League (NWCL) in 1983, Curzon were founder members once again. Three years later, floodlights were installed at National Park, paving the way for entry into the Northern Premier League (NPL) First Division in 1986 – their third founding role in just over a decade.

Early NPL seasons proved difficult, with four managers in 12 months before Steve Waywell arrived in October 1987. Relegation was only avoided due to league expansion, but Waywell stabilised the team and remained in charge until 1993. The club's best NPL finish came in 1995–96, placing fourth, but financial and organisational challenges the following year brought their ten-year stay in the division to an end.

The 1996–97 campaign was chaotic both on and off the field. Several managerial changes and boardroom upheaval ended with the club's first-ever relegation. Worse still, Curzon were controversially moved to the Northern Counties East League (NCEL) by the league authorities – an unprecedented administrative decision that caused major travel and financial difficulties. The club finished second from bottom, but after appeals and support from the NCEL committee, they were reinstated to the NWCL in 1997–98.

Under manager Joe Murty, Curzon rebuilt, earning promotion in 1999–2000 before Murty's departure that summer. Gary Lowe took charge and oversaw more than a decade of stability and progress. His early teams were competitive in league and cup, reaching the Worthington League Challenge Cup Final in 2000–01. Off the field, the club made major strides when long-term plans for a new home were finally realised. After decades at National Park and a temporary ground-share at Stalybridge Celtic, Curzon moved into the purpose-built Tameside Stadium in 2005. The ground was officially opened by Sir Alex Ferguson on 8 September 2005, with Manchester United providing the opposition.

The move marked a turning point. In 2006–07, Curzon finished NWCL runners-up, reached both the League Challenge Cup Final and the FA Vase semi-finals, matching the achievements of 1980. Their cup final against FC United of Manchester drew a record crowd of 3,210 to their new home. Promotion followed through league restructuring, returning Curzon to the Northern Premier League.

Their first season back (2007–08) saw them lead Division One North for much of the campaign before losing in the play-offs. The following year they again reached the play-off final but lost to Newcastle Blue Star. However, that season will forever be remembered for Curzon's superb FA Cup run – defeating Exeter City 3–2 at home in the First Round Proper before bowing out 2–0 at Kidderminster Harriers.

From 2008 to 2011, Curzon reached the play-offs four years in a row, consistently challenging for promotion under Lowe. They also made their debut in the FA Trophy First Round Proper in 2010–11, losing to Altrincham after the first tie was abandoned due to a power failure. That season marked the end of Lowe's impressive 11-year reign.

John Flanagan succeeded him in 2011, immediately leading the club to their highest-ever league finish – second place – and a play-off final in his debut season. His side went unbeaten in their first 17 games and were undefeated at home all season. Although 2012–13 brought a mid-table finish, the club reached the Doodson Sports Cup Final, losing on penalties to North Ferriby United after a shoot-out where the first seven penalties were saved.

A summer rebuild in 2013 produced a stunning campaign. Curzon went 16 games unbeaten, later embarking on a 12-game run that included a record ten straight clean sheets. A dramatic stoppage-time header from Niall Cummins at Harrogate Railway clinched the league title and promotion with five games to spare. The following season, the club competed at their highest-ever level in the NPL Premier Division – and, remarkably, with largely the same squad, won promotion again. A play-off victory over Ilkeston, following a semi-final win over neighbours Ashton United, secured back-to-back promotions and a place in the National League North for the first time.

Curzon adapted superbly to life at Step 2. Their debut 2015–16 campaign brought an 11th-place finish – a new club record. The following season saw them equal their best FA Cup run, reaching the Second Round Proper before losing to AFC Wimbledon. Subsequent seasons delivered solid mid-table finishes, though cup runs proved shorter, including exits to Stockport County and Southport.

The COVID-19 pandemic disrupted football nationwide in 2020, leading to the departure of manager Mark Bradshaw. Former Colne boss Steve Cunningham took charge, steering the club through uncertain times before being replaced midway through the 2021–22 season by Adam Lakeland, assisted by ex-player Alex Brown. Lakeland's appointment reinvigorated the side, continuing the club's steady progress until his move to King's Lynn Town during the 2023–24 season.

Experienced midfielder Craig Mahon then took over as player-manager and guided Curzon to another milestone – a seventh-place finish in the National League North, surpassing their previous best and securing the club's first-ever play-off appearance at that level. It was a fitting reward for a club that has built its reputation on persistence, unity, and ambition.

From their formation in 1963 to establishing themselves as a respected force in the National League North, Curzon Ashton's story is one of resilience and progress. They have overcome relocations, league restructures, and financial uncertainty to rise steadily through the non-league pyramid. The Tameside Stadium now stands as a symbol of their growth – a modern home for a proud community club with deep local roots.

More than sixty years on, Curzon Ashton continue to embody the values on which they were founded: hard work, determination, and belief. With a passionate fan base, a strong community focus, and ambitious leadership, the club remains committed to writing new chapters in its remarkable journey – representing Ashton-under-Lyne with pride in every competition they enter.

Curzon Ashton FC

The Bulls are back at home on Saturday as they host Curzon Ashton.

Hereford will be looking to return to winning ways after a 2-1 loss away to AFC Fylde last weekend, which made it a total of three games without a win.

Despite the loss, there were reasons to be positive after the narrow loss, which saw the Coasters get the winning goal late in stoppage time.

"I'm so proud of the lads, I'm devastated for the players and the fans, but there are plenty of positives, we deserved a point," said Paul Caddis.

Hereford enter the game on Saturday in 18th on 15 points, with four wins, three draws and six losses.

Curzon Ashton have had a good start to the season as they currently sit in eighth on 22 points, with six wins, four draws and four losses.

The Nash are coming off the back of a comfortable 3-0 win at home to King's Lynn on Tuesday night, which followed a 1-0 victory against Peterborough Sports on Saturday.

Mark Bradshaw's side narrowly missed out on the play-offs last season on goal difference, one point above the Bulls.

Caddis' side got the better of Curzon Ashton on both occasions last season, with a 3-1 win at Edgar Street and a 2-1 victory at the Tameside Stadium.

Hereford fans will be hoping to see their side earn all three points on Saturday.

Team News

Lawson D'Ath came off against South Shields after taking a knock to the hip and is a doubt.

Eno Nto has been absent from the last four squads after coming off against Hemel Hempstead with a hamstring issue.

Kyle Howkins missed out against AFC Fylde due to a groin issue.

Madou Cisse has returned to Notts County for treatment on a foot injury.

RON PARROTT HERITAGE PROJECTS

HUST was honoured to be asked by Ron's family to be custodians of his Hereford United / Hereford FC statistical records and memorabilia. The family has passed Ron's programme collection to a reputable dealer so everybody will have the chance to bid for programmes as they are released.

Amongst the considerable memorabilia are a small number of record books from other football clubs. Richard Tomkins, HUST Chair, advises "We felt the most appropriate course of action on these other club record books is to return them to their host club in the spirit of friendship those clubs showed Ron. Using my contacts with supporters of those other clubs I have begun the process of handing the record books over to their long-term fans. Recently I visited Portsmouth."

Laurance Knight, a Pompey fan of 58 years standing, was delighted to be such a recipient. Laurance says "Heritage isn't just today, last week or last year. It goes back lifetimes. Larger or smaller clubs, we all must ensure that the history is passed forward to the next generations like our forefathers did for us. I've fond memories of Pompey playing Hereford United."

Richard concludes "I'm in process of forming a project team to take forward some medium and long-term activities that will be a suitable tribute to what Ron Parrott did for us. We're just starting out but we're treading an important path."
